Australian scientist to discuss drought management and cattle growth

Tuesday, September 15

7:30 p.m. Farm Advisor's Office

Cooperative Extension, 1655 So. Main St., Yreka, CA 96097

(Note: Date change from earlier announcement)

Instead of a plane ticket to Australia, attend an evening presentation by Dr. Malcolm McPhee from Australia on drought management and cattle growth. The presentation starts at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, September 15 in the Cooperative Extension office at 1655 So. Main Street in Yreka, CA. Visiting the U.S. from Armidale, Australia, Dr. McPhee will exchange ideas about drought management, which might include natural droughts and perhaps "regulatory drought" brought about by irrigation restrictions. Niche producers that are raising cattle as finished products will also want to attend to hear ideas about management tools to better predict and control carcass end products. If you can't get to Australia, then this is a really inexpensive way to hear about cattle production with a different viewpoint. Room size is limited so get there early.

For further information contact: Dr. Dan Drake, Farm Advisor, 530/842-2711.

This is your copy of the Siskiyou Stockman, which you requested, or which we thought would be of interest to you.
